

A LOOK BEHIND THE SCENES

Joanna Coleman (UK)

Something you should know about The Hobbit...

Every great story has secrets. And The Hobbit isn't any different!

COMPETING WITH A LITTLE MONSTER

Bilbo and Gollum compete<sup>1</sup> against each other in riddles<sup>2</sup>. But many people don't know that Tolkien changed this part of the story so it fitted better with his Lord of the Rings books. In the first version of The Hobbit, Gollum was quite happy to give his ring to Bilbo! Only later Tolkien decided the ring was a power ring and poor Gollum couldn't give it away.

MAKING MONEY ON HOBBITS

The Hobbit is only three hundred pages, compared to the 1,200 pages of the Lord of the Rings. But the directors have still decided to make – not one film, not two films, but another three! Are they doing it for the money? Probably! But they are also working with the appendices (= dodatky) to The Hobbit, written by Tolkien just before his death. These contain<sup>3</sup> new parts of the story that most people have never heard of. Let's just hope Tolkien won't come back from dead to strangle (= uškrtit) the director and his team...

ELEMENTARY, MY DEAR BILBO

The villain (= padouch) of the movies, Smaug the dragon, is voiced by Benedict Cumberbatch. You don't know him? Well, watch the BBC series Sherlock. You might be surprised<sup>4</sup> when you find out who plays the famous detective Sherlock Holmes and his friend Dr Watson!

A DISGUSTING ACT!

Stephen Fry, a famous English comedian, was happy with the director but possibly didn't enjoy the filming. Fry plays the cowardly and corrupted (= zbabělý a zkažený) Master of Laketown, so he has to look as disgusting as possible. He even had to eat testicles (= varlata)! Some people would do just about anything to get the role...

PROFESSOR STOLE THE RIGHTS FOR HOBBIT!

On an island in Indonesia, a type of very small 90cm tall early humans have been found. We don't know if they lived in warm holes, ate six meals a day or had furry<sup>6</sup> feet – but we know we're not allowed to<sup>7</sup> call them hobbits! A professor from New Zealand was planning a lecture<sup>8</sup> called 'The Other Hobbit', but the film company told her she couldn't use the word hobbit. Apparently (= podle všeho) they had the rights (= právo) to it and nobody else could take it away from them... My preciousssssssssss!*
